DID YOU KNOW?....

In May 1942, the Australian Women's Land Army was established to provide essential foodstuffs when our men from the farms were called to arms because of the attack from the Japanese on Pearl Harbour.

Long time Club member Joan Cunningham provided an insight into her time in this Army, and how many mothers, daughters and sisters found themselves in the strange world of agriculture! Duties undertaken included dairying, fruit and vegetable cultivation, timber production and felling, livestock husbandry, tractor driving and threshing—all often many miles away from their home and families.

Enrolment was permanent and of auxiliary in nature, with over 3000 members ensuring that our country continued to access essentials during those dark hours. Top effort, girls!
